

Blossom Kinder – Interplays of color and form

Youthful carefreeness, joyfulness and lightheartedness – as radiantly exuded by the Blossom Kinder from traditional manufactory Wendt & Kühn and reflecting our universal human longing for goodness, kindness and a sense of security. The first Blossom Kinder were designed in 1929. Faithful to the original designs created by company founder Grete Wendt, the harmoniously coordinated colors and the love for detail these figurines exhibit still enthrall us to this very day: The girls in their artistically elaborate dresses and skirts, the boys in their supple, smart trousers. The hats, suspenders and ribbons are all skillfully painted on by our workshop painters with a steady hand and fine brush strokes. No Blossom Child is like any other, each is one of a kind with its own individual charm.

Photographer: S + M Ruemmler